(b) BLT 2/1 Operation Order 202-65

Time Zone: H

1. MISSION

- a. Provide a helicopterborne immediate reaction team from T-hour on S-Day until Termination of Operation.
- b. Be prepared to conduct an amphibious raid on order in the objective area commencing at H/L Hour on D-Day landing over beaches and/or in helicopter landing zones to be designated; attack and destroy Viet Cong personnel and materiel and withdraw within 36 hours.
- c. If the BLT has not been committed then on S plus 2 days conduct an amphibious raid by LVTs over RED BEACH to search for, capture or destroy Viet Cong personnel and materiel in the portion of the objective.
- d. This estimate is promulgated to furnish units with intelligence data as to the enemy, weather, and terrain and other items of concern in the objective area.

2. CHARACTERISTICS OF THE AREA OF OPERATION

- a. See reference (b).
- b. Terrain.--The objective area consists of an irregularly shaped peninsula approximately 14.3 statute miles long with a width ranging from .3 statute miles at the northwestern extremity to 8.9 statute miles near the center running north and south and an island (Hon Lon) .9 miles SW of the southern extremity of the peninsula. These two land formations form Ban Gai Bay. The island of Hon Lon is approximately 7.4 miles long and 3.0 miles wide at its widest point near the center. Several smaller islands are scattered about the area. Approximately 2/3 of the peninsula consists of wind blown sand dunes with sparse vegetation limiting vehicular trafficability to the firmer packed sand on the shoreline at periods of low tide. A large hill mass extending from the center of the peninsula to the southwest rises to a maximum height of 436 meters. No roads are apparent; however, there are many trails throughout the area. The rest of the area is heavily forested except for a few scattered clearings on the slopes. The southern tip of the peninsula has no roads but there are numerous trails extending overland just back of the shoreline. Steep slopes, trees, and large boulders make vehicular traffic practically impossible. The many coves have palm and coconut trees with the rest of the area being heavily forested. Slopes have a few scattered clearings. Non Lon Island, like the peninsula has numerous small coves suitable for the off-loading of supplies. The island's shoreline is rugged and strewn with boulders. The main trail on the island is no more than a foot path and links two villages, Bai Tre (CF 200936) and Bai Trach (CF 200957), the latter being abandoned. Vehicular traffic is impossible. All slopes are moderate to steep, vegetation consists of dense forests except for cleared areas on slopes and these are covered with grass and sparse brush. Average elevation is 33 meters with a prominent peak of 507 meters (CF 100957).

c. HYDROGRAPHY.

(1) Tidal Data.--

DATE	HIGH	HEIGHT	LOW	HEIGHT

29Sept	2314	3.0	0716	3.1

- d. CLIMATE.--The area is now considered cleared but not under pacification. Population averages 50 to 200 per square mile, comprised mainly of ethnic Vietnamese. Principal occupation is fishing. The population will generally support whoever happens to be in control at the time, with no strong feelings for either the Vietnamese government or the Viet Cong. VC cadre has been operating in the vicinity of CG 273010 and CG 267013 with the purpose of enlisting the support of the populace.

3. ENEMY SITUATION

- a. Composition.--Enemy forces consists only of irregular and/or guerrilla forces required to operate and maintain the limited military and logistical facilities.

DECLASSIFIED
CONFIDENTIAL

- b. Reinforcements.--Forces immediately available consists of one ~~Mobile Force~~ Company and Four Local Force Platoons and an undetermined number of irregular and guerrilla forces.

4. ENEMY CAPABILITIES

a. Enumeration.

- (1) Continue to gain civil populace support by the use of VC cadre.
- (2) Withdraw present force from the objective area to the mainland to the north and west.
- (3) Defend the objective with present force.
- (4) Reinforce the objective with up to one Mobile Force company and four local force platoons and an undetermined number of guerrilla groups.

b. Analysis and discussion.

- (1) The probability of the enemy to maintain a coordinated defense of the objective area, either with its present force or to draw from outside forces is unlikely for three reasons:
 - (a) The terrain does not favor holding by the enemy.
 - (b) The proximity of friendly forces to the north and west would isolate the mainland limit areas of areas for establishing cache sites.
 - (c) Contrary to known VC tactics.

5. CONCLUSION

a. Relative probability of adoption of enemy capabilities.

- (1) Continue to gain the support of the civil populace.
- (2) Withdraw present force from the objective area to the north or west.
- (3) ~~Defend~~ Defend the objective area with the present force.
- (4) Reinforce with units from the mainland.

Effect of enemy capabilities on the mission.

- (1) The probability of adoption by the enemy of capability (1), (2) or (3) will not alter the accomplishment of the mission.
- (2) Capability (4) will delay the accomplishment of the mission.

3. RECONNAISSANCE AND OBSERVATION MISSIONS
- a. Orders to Subordinate Units.
- (1) All Units.
- (a) Report all initial enemy contact by FLASH Message.
- (b) Report any unusual movement (large groups) of civil populace in or out of the objective area.
- (c) Report all information using the SALUTE method (Size, Activity, Location, Unit, Time, Equipment).
- b. Requests to Higher, Adjacent, and Supporting Units.

- (c) Movement of any ARVN units into the objective area.
- (d) Latest aerial photographs and interpretation of target area; coverage to include possible helicopter landing zones.
- (e) The latest weather forecast and tidal data.
4. MEASURES FOR HANDLING PRISONERS, CAPTURED DOCUMENTS, AND CAPTURED MATERIAL
- a. Responsibility and Coordination. The S-1 in coordination with the S-2, S-4 and Headquarters Commandant, is responsible for the collection, safeguarding, administrative processing, utilization, treatment and discipline of all prisoners. The S-1 will notify all companies and attached units of the Battalion Landing Team Collection Point. Unless Interrogation Translation Teams (ITT) are attached, the S-2 will conduct all interrogation of prisoners.
- b. The Five S's. All units of this Battalion Landing Team will adhere to the "Five S's" when in contact with or handling prisoners. The five steps are: SEARCH, SEGREGATE, SILENCE, SPEED (to the rear), and SAFEGUARD.
- c. Personnel Considered as Prisoners. Enemy military personnel, hostile civilians, deserters, diplomatic personnel and any other individuals who demonstrate hostility to the point of impeding the accomplishment of the mission. While operations are in progress, all captured, who were actively hostile, will be considered prisoners until a determination is made of their status by S-2 or Interrogation Translation Teams.

DECLASSIFIED

d. Processing.

(1) All, except the most hardened civilian or military personnel, experience a certain amount of shock upon capture. The initial handling and interrogation should be such as to maintain this state of shock.

(a) Capturing Unit.

1. Search. Everything will be removed from the individual except for the minimum necessary clothing. Complete and thorough disarming will be accomplished immediately, paying particular attention to any item which would give the prisoner a capability of taking his own life, or another's life. Methods of search will be governed by the circumstances surrounding the capture.
2. Segregation. One of the purposes of segregation is to keep the prisoner in the same state of shock; another is to deny their leaders an opportunity to organize active or passive resistance to their captors. If possible after the search, the group segregation should be:
 - a. Military by rank.
 - b. Deserters.
 - c. Civilians (guerrillas).
 - d. Females.
 - e. Political indoctrination personnel.
 - f. Friendly evaders and/or escapers.
3. Silence. Prisoners will maintain silence between each other at all times. The combat situation will dictate the methods (such as distance between prisoners). Guards will not talk to prisoners except to give them orders nor will guards converse with each other within hearing of the prisoners.
4. Speed. Speed is essential, otherwise the intelligence value will be negative.
5. Safeguard. From the moment of capture, prisoners will be guarded. Enough guards must be assigned to prevent the possibility of escape. One guard should be detailed to follow behind, being alert to prisoners attempting to discard or conceal any item of information.

DECLASSIFIED

6. Tagging. The prisoner and his possessions must be tagged. Capturing units will use the standard prisoner tag for personnel and the document envelope. All material and equipment that is captured will be tagged with the standard equipment tag. When captured intact or partly intact, enemy CP's, installations, etc. will not be disturbed, inventoried or investigated by the capturing unit.
 7. Movement to BLT. Companies will notify the BLT S-1 as to the location of Company Collection Points. S-1 will notify S-4 who will arrange for pickup of prisoners. The Headquarters Commandant will provide guards to escort prisoners from the Company Collection Point to the BLT Collection Point. Unless prolonged retention by the Company is anticipated, items such as food, water, cigarettes and head privileges will not be given to prisoners.
- (b) BLT Processing. The BLT serves as a Collecting Point for personnel captured within the BLT area of responsibility. Normally, this is the first echelon at which interrogation may be conducted. Unless Interrogation Translation Teams are attached, interrogation at this echelon will be limited and concerned only with developing information of immediate tactical value.
1. Prisoners will be thoroughly searched again.
 2. If segregation by rank, sex, etc. has not been accomplished, this will be done at this time.
 3. S-2 personnel will check prisoner tags, document notation, etc. to insure completeness of the information and that proper association of prisoner and documents has been accomplished.
 4. The BLT has the responsibility for establishing the evacuation of prisoners.
- d. Prisoner Treatment. Capturing personnel and personnel handling prisoners will strictly enforce orders given to prisoners. Violators should be dealt with quickly but within limits of the Geneva Convention and human decency. Prisoners attempting to escape may be shot but only after all other measures have been taken toward recapture. Accomplishment of the mission will never be subordinate to, or jeopardized by, consideration of the prisoners welfare.

DECLASSIFIED

e. Refugees.

- (1) Infiltrators. During the course of military operations, elements of this BLT may encounter large groups of civilian refugees. The enemy may be expected to use refugee columns for the insertion of agents, saboteurs and guerrillas. To the extent permitted by the situation, units will attempt to screen all civilians to identify those who are not bonafide refugees. Civilians so identified will be removed and treated as prisoners.
- (2) S-2 Responsibilities. Although the handling and processing of refugees is not an S-2 function, S-2 assists and advises in maintaining security and in preventing refugee interference with military operations. Further, if feasible, S-2 will exploit the refugees as a source of information.
- (3) Refugee Control. Large groups of civilians in refugee columns cannot be treated as prisoners; however, commanders whose lines they have passed through must take certain precautions. Specific instructions, including routes, medical aid, and processing information will be issued in appropriate Operation and Administrative Orders. The BLT will maintain refugee control points when necessary, and to the extent permitted by the situation, will screen all refugees for weapons, large numbers of persons of military age, persons carrying large amounts of money, or any suspicious condition. Those persons appearing as other than bonafide refugees will be removed and treated as prisoners until their status is determined by higher headquarters.

f. Captured Documents.

- (1) Sources. The primary sources of captured enemy documents are:
 - (a) Captured enemy CPs and other installations.
 - (b) Prisoners, both military and civilian.
 - (c) Enemy dead.
 - (d) Captured material.
- (2) Disposition. All captured enemy documents, regardless of source, will immediately be turned into, or placed under the cognizance of, the S-2. Such items as name plates, operation manuals, gunbooks, or blueprints should be tagged and left attached to equipment they have been captured with. The disposition of such equipment will be covered in paragraph i., below. It should be noted that captured documents are the property of the United States, and appropriation for personal use is strictly forbidden. Documents will be forwarded through the intelligence chain utilizing the standard document envelope.

DECLASSIFIED

(3) Regulations Concerning Various Sources.

- (a) In the event that a prisoner is the source of a document, the document must be identified with the prisoner and the circumstances of the capture, including capturing unit, date-time group, and location of capture.
- (b) When counting enemy dead left on the battlefield, units will routinely search the bodies for documents or other material of intelligence value.
- (c) When captured intact or partly intact, enemy CPs, installations, government offices or similar activities will not be disturbed, investigated, or inventoried by the capturing unit. The BLT will give notice of the capture of such installations to higher headquarters by the most expedient means available. Pending receipt of instruction in this regard, physical security of the captured installation will be established and maintained by this organization.
- (d) Upon capture of terrain upon which an enemy CP was formerly located, units will routinely search the area for documents which might have been overlooked in withdrawing from the site.
- (e) Documents captured at electronic installations or sites will not be separated from the equipment unless recapture is imminent. Such documents and equipment will be placed under guard and BLT will notify higher headquarters by the fastest possible SECURE means.
- (f) Under NO circumstances will any unit or organization use plain language transmission to report capture of enemy communications documents and security material.

g. Captured Material and Equipment.

- (1) Responsibilities. The S-4, in coordination with the S-2, is responsible for the disposition of all captured enemy material and weapons. In cases involving communications equipment, the S-4 will coordinate with the Communications Officer and the S-2 concerning its disposition.
- (2) Disposition.
 - (a) All captured equipment will be tagged with the standard captured equipment tag.
 - (b) Reports of capture will be made to the S-2 including time, location, circumstances of capture, capturing unit, and equipment description whenever evacuation of the equipment is not feasible, or is prohibited by this or other order.

- (c) If practicable, weapons captured from prisoners are evacuated with the prisoners other belongings.
 - (d) Reports of frequency settings on captured radios or radar transmitters and receivers will be classified SECRET and forwarded through the intelligence chain within this BLT to higher headquarters by the fastest SECURE means available. (From companies, this will normally require a runner with the requisite security clearance.)
 - (e) Captured or crashed enemy aircraft will be reported immediately. The capturing unit will provide necessary guards until relieved by competent authority.
 - (f) The removal of name plates, manufacturer's identifying marks, or other special markings of captured enemy material and equipment is prohibited.
 - (g) New or unusual types of weapons or equipment will be placed under the cognizance of the S-2, either by evacuation, or by notification and guarding, as noted above.
 - (h) In the event of imminent recapture, however, Commanders are responsible for the destruction of enemy material in the custody of their unit/organization.
 - (i) If material is destroyed, a report listing amount, description, location, date, and destroying unit should be forwarded to the S-2.
- (3) Emergency Utilization. No provisions set forth herein should be construed to prohibit the use of captured material or weapons when required by tactical situation.

h. Salvage and Retention.

- (1) Requests. All captured material becomes the property of the United States and appropriation thereof is strictly prohibited. Individuals will not retain any item (captured or unclaimed) of enemy material, documents, or equipment for souvenirs.
- (2) Security. Every individual in this organization will take steps that captured weapons, equipment, and material does not fall into dissident hands, either military or civilian.

5. MAPS, CHARTS AND PHOTOGRAPHS

- b. Requests for photographs will be coordinated by this Headquarters (S-2).

c. Aerial photographs of the objective area are available at BLT S-2.

6. COUNTERINTELLIGENCE

a. Reference (b) applies.

b. Military Security.

- (1) All units will have an effective EMERGENCY DESTRUCTION PLAN, to be used in the event of capture; for any material that is classified and/or material that would aid the enemy in obtaining information concerning this unit's identification, strength, and operations.
- (2) Personnel security is a continuing factor in combat situations. All units will pay particular attention to:
 - (a) Front-line co-ordination, especially during the hours of darkness.
 - (b) Instruction in the Code of Conduct.
 - (c) Use of Challenge and Password.
 - (d) Unit Commanders will ensure that personnel participating in operations ashore carry only the very minimum personal property ashore. Specific items which should not be carried ashore are: money, personal mail, photographs of any type, liberty cards (or any document which could identify a unit) or any items that could be used for barter or negotiation to obtain funds or property.
 - (e) Prisoner handling.
 - (f) Due to the unique nature of DAGGER THRUST Operations, maximum security protection must be afforded the mission, composition of forces, and types of targets engaged.

c. Civil Security.

- (1) Check points established to control the flow of civil populace within the objective area.
- (2) The Civil Affairs Officer and the S-2 will co-ordinate the action taken concerning the handling, interrogation, and disposition of all local populace entering the objective area of the BLT (See Administrative Order 202-65).

- e. Economics.--There are no known industries in this area. The chief occupations are farming and fishing. The area serves as a trading center for the exchange of farm produce and fish.
- f. Sociology.--The population is ethnic Vietnamese who speak the Southern Vietnamese dialect. Religion is chiefly Buddhist although Christianity is also practiced in this area. Health and sanitation conditions are poor. All water is considered contaminated and preventive medicine ranges from non-existent to limited.

3. ENEMY SITUATION

- a. Composition.--Enemy forces presently accepted in the immediate objective area consist only of irregular and/or guerrilla forces required to operate and maintain the existing military and logistical facilities present.

DECLASSIFIED

No identification of irregular units in the immediate area is available. In the general area of operations the enemy has the following units:

- (1) 38th Battalion - A main force Battalion with 4 organic Companies (Estimated strength, 600 men).
- (2) 4th Company, 50th Battalion - A main force unit (Estimated strength, 150 men).
- (3) 4 separate companies - Main force units. No unit identification available (Estimated strength, 150 men each).
- (4) 8 separate local force companies - No unit identification available (Estimated strength, 120 men each).
- (5) Local Force Platoons - No unit designation available (Estimated strength, 30 men each).
- (6) 305th Main force company - Reported in area but unconfirmed (Estimated strength, 150 men).

- d. Strength and Combat Efficiency. No data is available. In its absence, combat efficiency is considered to be excellent. However, a recent large scale military action in the area just south of the target could have detrimental effect on the combat efficiency of these units if any of them were involved in this action.
- e. Disposition. Specific disposition data is not available but all units named in paragraph above are judged to be still in the objective area.
- f. Arms and Ammunition. No specific information is available on armament of VC forces in area. However, a typical main force battalion has in addition to small arms 2-3 60mm and 82mm mortars and 2-4 57mm Recoilless Rifles. Main force companies have in addition to small arms 2-4 60mm mortars. Local force companies have from 500-1000 of strength armed with small arms and 2-4 60mm mortars.
- g. Recent and Present Activities. No record of recent activities is available. There is no information available to show that the enemy has any knowledge of our situation or our plans for the area.
- h. Time and Space. The ability of lightly equipped VC units to cover great distances by foot would enable the enemy forces in this area to move to better defensive positions or vacate the area if given a 1 hour notification of our operations. Distances to such terrain in the North or West varies from 1 to 1/2 miles from the center of the target area.
- i. Logistical Considerations. No data available.
- j. Personnel Considerations. The VC are assisted by the fact that they have the same ethnic background as the civilian population.

DECLASSIFIED

- i. Reinforcements. The 2nd VC Regiment, with the 93rd, 95th, and 97th Battalions, has been operating in Northern Binh Dinh and Southern Quang Ngai Provinces within a 20 mile radius of the target area. This Regiment could reinforce the area within 24 hours of warning of our operations. If this regiment was involved in military action at Bong Son BR 8797 with ARVN Forces, its ability to reinforce would be curtailed.
- j. Peculiarities and Weaknesses. The units in this area, even main force units, are able to blend with the large civilian population in the area as the first step toward exfiltration. In addition they have the support of the civilian populace to aid them. They are susceptible to all forms of supporting fires, especially in the low land area to the south of the objective. Poor communications, inherent in VC units, could further decrease the effectiveness of their reaction to a surprise landing.
- k. Assistance from neighboring forces. No data available.
- l. Other factors. None.

h. ENEMY CAPABILITIES

a. Enumeration.

- (1) Exfiltration of the objective area.
- (2) Harassment of U.S. forces by present forces.
- (3) Defend the objective area with present forces available.
- (4) Reinforce with 1 main force Battalion and 2 main force companies, supported by 8 local force companies.
- (5) Counter-attack with 1 main force regiment (3 Battalions).

b. Analysis and Discussion.

- (1) Exfiltration of objective area. This is an extremely likely course of action for two reasons:
 - (a) VC force in immediate area is small and not missed.
 - (b) Conforms to VC tactics when faced by superior forces.
- (2) Harassment of U.S. forces by presently available forces. This is likely to be carried out in conjunction with paragraph (1) above for two reasons:
 - (a) To cover exfiltration.
 - (b) Conforms to current VC tactics.

DECLASSIFIED

- (3) Defend the objective area with present forces. If complete surprise is achieved this course of action is likely, especially if units are trapped or cut off from escape routes or trying to protect key logistical installations. It is also likely if a large unknown force is in the immediate objective area.
- (4) Reinforce. With 1 main force Battalion and 2 main companies supported by 5 local force companies. This is a possible course of action and especially probable after the first 12 hours of the operation for 4 reasons:
 - (a) Enemy will have time to react to initial surprise.
 - (b) U.S. force locations will be apparent at this time.
 - (c) Extent of build up of U.S. forces will have been determined.
 - (d) Advent of darkness will allow build up and movement of forces to the objective area.
- (5) Counter attack with 1 VC main force regiment.
 - (a) A possible course of action but not probable for at least 24 hours after initial notification of U.S. operations. This would depend on 3 factors.
 1. Ability to mass troops.
 2. Distance to the objective area.
 3. Extent of casualties in any recent operations involving this regiment.
 - (b) Factors inhibiting this capability:
 1. Inability to mass troops in daylight due to close air support and NGF support.
 2. Difficulty of moving so large a force without being detected.

5. CONCLUSIONS

a. Relative Probability of Adoption of Enemy Capabilities.

- (1) Exfiltration of objective area.
- (2) Harassment of U.S. forces by present force.
- (3) Defend with present forces available.
- (4) Reinforce with 1 Main Force Battalion, 2 Main Force Companies, supported by 5 Local Force Companies.

DECLASSIFIED

(5) Counter attack with 1 Main Force Regiment.

b. Governing Consideration.

(1) Enemy will probably use a combination of the first three capabilities to oppose U.S. operations in the objective area. Harassment will probably be used to cover withdrawal of enemy from objective area in the initial stages of our operations. Followed by a build up of enemy forces as he reacts to our presence. Counter attack would be indicated if 2nd VC Regiment has moved into the TAM QUAN Area due to withdrawal from action at Bong Son BC 8797.

c. Effect of Enemy Capabilities on Mission.

(1) Capability (1) and (2) would not affect accomplishment of mission.

(2) Capability (3) and (4) and (5) would affect accomplishment of mission and make withdrawal difficult.

1. PURPOSE AND OTHER LIMITING CONSIDERATIONS.

The purpose of this study is to determine the effect of weather, terrain, and hydrography on military operations in the TAM QUAN area in the 1st week of October 1965. This objective area is bounded by Grid Lines BS 15 in the North and BS 10 in the South, BS 94 in the East and BS 90 in the West.

2. GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF THE AREA

a. Climate.--The Tam Quan area has a monsoonal climate. October is a transition month from the southwest to the northeast monsoon. During October precipitation increases significantly in the Tam Quan area.

- (1) Temperature.--Mean daily maximum temperature during October is 80° fahrenheit. Mean daily minimum is 75° fahrenheit. Mean relative humidity is 80%.
- (2) Winds.--During October the winds are generally from the northeast.
- (3) Precipitation.--Mean monthly precipitation during October is 24 inches.
- (4) Clouds.--During October the mean number of days with total cloud cover less than 30% is ten; the mean number of days with total cloud cover greater than 70% is 15.
- (5) Visibility.--Visibility in the objective area at 0700 is 2 miles or less, 20% of the time during October. 1300 visibility is 2 miles or less 5% of the time, during October. The mean number of days with crachin weather (period of fog and drizzle) is one.
- (6) Thunderstorms.--The mean number of days with thunderstorms in October is two.

DECLASSIFIED

- (7) Storms & fronts.--The eastern coastlands of Vietnam have an average occurrence of one tropical storm every other year during October.
- (8) Sea and Swell.--During October the frequency of sea heights are as follows: less than 3 feet, 40%, 3 to 5 feet, 40%.
- (9) Tidal Data.
- (a) See Encl (1) to Tab A to Appendix 1 to Annex B to Operation Order 204-65.

b. Topography.

- (1) Relief in the northern portion (above Grid Line BS 13) of the TAOR rises gradually from the beach area to the low hills, approximately 100 meters in height, at a distance of 1 mile inland. The hills are moderately steep and wooded. A narrow valley runs north and south behind this hill mass separating it from a higher hill mass in the northwest corner of the objective area. National Route #1 and a single track meter gauge railroad runs the length of this valley. Southwest of these two hill masses the terrain slopes steeply down to an extensive river delta area which is under heavy cultivation. Relief in the southern portion of the objective area is low and is covered with a broad network of streams, islands and villages. The beach area in the southern portion of the area is located on a 3500 meter long low sand spit approximately 500 meters wide.
- (2) Drainage.--The objective area consists of a vast network of rivers, streams, marshes and paddies with poor drainage in all except the northern portion of the area. The main streams flow Southeast and Northeast to join in a large shallow inlet in the center of the objective area.

DECLASSIFIED

DECLASSIFIED

(3) Vegetation.--The area is largely devoted to agriculture with rice being the main crop in all but the northern portion. The northern portion consists of many areas under cultivation in root on bush type crops bounded by groves of palm trees. The hills in this area are covered with brush and low trees.

(4) Surface Materials.

(a) Trafficability.

- 1 Movement in the northern area is good for troops. Movement for tracked vehicle is fair throughout the area but, is somewhat restricted by hill masses to the existing roads. Movement for wheeled vehicles is fair on existing trails but poor for off trail traffic.
- 2 Movement in the southern and central area is generally restricted to existing trails and roads for troops and is considered fair. Off trail movement for troops, especially in paddy and marsh areas, is poor. Movement for all types of vehicles is generally limited to trails and roads and considered poor. By-passes are non-existent throughout most of the area.
- 3 Beaches.--Movement is generally good in beach area for troops and tracked vehicles. Movement for wheeled vehicles is poor on dry sand and fair in damp sand.
- 4 Cross country movement throughout the whole objective area is greatly affected by precipitation. Should precipitation occur during the operation or shortly before D-Day trafficability will be adversely affected especially in the central and southern portions of the objective area.
- 5 Cultural Features
 - a Road Net.--Roads in the area are poor and few in number. The only road that can be classified as good is National Route #1 which runs north and south through area about 1 mile inland from RED BEACH. Other roads in area are narrow unimproved dirt roads with limited firmness and few by-passes. National Route #1 has been cut in several places and blocked in other spots by obstacles implaced on the surface of the road. Along National Route #1 and the railroad that runs parallel to it are several bridges and a railroad tunnel. The southern portion of the operation area is a mass of extensive built up areas. Most of these are residential in nature. There are no known industrial areas in the vicinity.

Chief occupations in the area are farming and fishing. Practically all of the available land has been put under cultivation. In connection with fishing, many boats are found in the streams and the main inlet and along the beaches.

c. Hydrography and Landing Beaches.

(1) See Enclosure (1) to Tab A.

3. MILITARY ASPECTS OF THE AREA

a. Observation and Fields of Fire.

(1) In the southern and western portions of the objective area, observation and fields of fire are generally good, being restricted only by the scattered and localized tree and bush areas, and possibly by paddy dikes and built up roads.

(2) In the northern and eastern portion of the objective area observation is generally fair. Observation is good to excellent from hills 106, 171, and 209. Fields of fire for direct fire weapons are generally poor, being obstructed by the irregular terrain, trees and thick vegetation on the hillsides, and hedgerows, trees and houses in the valleys.

(3) Fields of fire for indirect fire weapons are generally good throughout the objective area.

b. Cover and Concealment. Cover from direct fire weapons is considered poor throughout the southern and western portion of the area, alleviated only by drainage ditches, paddy dikes, built up roads and trails, and the trees surrounding most of the hamlets. In the northern and eastern portion of the area, cover from direct fire weapons is fair; protection being provided by trees and defiladed areas. Cover from indirect fire weapons is considered poor throughout the area. Concealment for foot troops is considered poor to fair in the south and west and good in the north and east. Concealment in the trees surrounding the lowland hamlets should be fair.

c. Obstacles. Natural obstacles to movement in the southern and western portions of the area will consist of the "wet" paddy areas, tree-covered hamlets, and the numerous streams and tidal flats. In the northern and eastern portions of the area, movement will be impeded by the irregular terrain and dense, though low, vegetation on the hillsides.

Movement should not be impeded in the beach area, the only obstacle being a low sandy ridge running from BS 935128 to BS 928147. "Wet" paddy areas between beach and high ground will present obstacles to vehicular movement.

d. Key Terrain Features.

- (1) Ridge line running SE to NW from BS 9312 to BS 9114.
- (2) Ridge line running S to N from BS 9114 to BS 9116.
- (3) Hill mass vicinity Hill 171 at BS 905150.
- (4) Railroad Tunnel located at BS 908148
 - (a) These terrain features dominate the objective area, and control will be necessary to accomplish the mission.

e. Avenues of Approach.

- (1) Avenues of approach to the objective area are limited; in the south by streams and tidal flats, in the north by high ridges and hills.
- (2) Primary avenues of approach are:
 - (a) The N-S valley running from BS 918170 to BS 906140.
 - (b) The beach area from BS 9220 to BS 9216.
 - (c) The Song Dap Ong Khee river valley complex which runs NW from BS 9012 to BS 8717.
 - (d) The Song Nvoc Ma Tan Ky river valley complex which runs SW from BS 8910 to BS 8506.
 - (e) National Route 1 and the railway from the south.

- (h) Obstacles: Bordered by trees and hedgerows on all four sides.
- (i) Slope: Less than 10%.
- (j) Adjacent Terrain and Exits: Located on the flat ground west of Red Beach adjacent to trail junction at BS 927146.
- (k) Approach: Good from East and West.

4. Tactical Effect of the Area

- a. Effect on the enemy. The characteristics of the area are generally favorable for Viet Cong tactics. In the southern lowlands, the dense built up area affords opportunity for the Viet Cong to blend in with civilian population. In the north, the broken terrain is favorable for the prosecution of the hit and run tactics of the Viet Cong.
- b. Effects on friendly forces. In the southern area, our movements will be impeded by streams, marshes and "wet" paddies. However, the flat terrain is favorable to use of CAS and NGF. In the north, the firm flat beach area will favor use of our superior mobility and firepower. Further inland, our movements will tend to be channelized by the irregular terrain, and our vehicles will be susceptible to ambush. Generally, the northern terrain favors use of our infantry tactics.
